

Hall of Honor Nomination Form

The Colgate University Athletics Hall of Honor was founded in 1979 to honor those persons who have made outstanding contributions to Colgate athletics. Its purpose is to perpetuate the memory of those persons who have brought distinction, honor and excellence to Colgate in athletics.

Name of Nominee: Michael Joseph Hayes

Sport(s) and Years Lettered: Football, Track (1916) Hockey (1915-1917)

Graduation Date: 1918

Achievements:

Three sport athlete. Two time hockey captain. Member of Delta Upsilon as well as numerous drama clubs. Member of Skull and Scroll Society (precursor to Konosioni). Commissioned at First Officers Training School in Plattsburgh, NY. Trained at Camp Upton on Long Island and was a member/coach of the football and hockey teams. Participated in the 1916+ Penn Relays for Colgate. Participated in the 1918 Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden. While serving with the 306th infantry in France in WWI he led a patrol into no-mans-land to rescue his fallen company commander (who later became Secretary of War under Truman). Two months later, on October 14, 1918, he attacked enemy artillery and machine guns in an effort to find cover for his men. He was struck by machine gun fire and killed.

Awards / Recognitions (i.e. Captain, All-Conference):

Men's Hockey Captain 1915-1916 and 1916-1917

Robert Patterson, the future Secretary of War and commander who Hayes had saved, said this: "[Hayes was] the highest type of soldier, gentleman, and American." "Cheerful through the direst hardships, passionately devoted to the cause for which he was fighting, sparing of everyone but himself

Records Set / Hall of Fames:

(cont) there was not a flaw in him." His death marked the one time when "no one in Company F (306th) made a secret of his sorrow."

Success after Colgate:

1918 Millrose Games - Half Mile in Full Equipment - 1st Place

Posthumously awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for multiple acts of heroism in France during World War I

Please return this form to Cindy Chamberlain, 13 Oak Drive, Hamilton, NY 13346 with any supporting documentation for the nominee (letters from teammates, former coaches, etc.)

Name(s) of Nominator: Ryan Dowgin '09 Email Address: rdowgin@gmail.com

Michael Joseph Hayes, first lieutenant, 306th Infantry. For repeated acts of extraordinary heroism in action at Bazoches, France, August 14, 1918, and St. Juvin, France, October 14, 1918. On August 14 Lieut. Hayes led a patrol of five men in broad daylight and without any cover rescued his company commander, who had fallen wounded near a German machine-gun nest. Failing to find the wounded officer, he crawled to within 20 yards of the post, attacked it with great dash and gallantry, inflicting a number of casualties in spite of heavy fire from enemy machine guns and hand grenades. On October 14 this officer led his platoon forward into the attack with energy and courage, in the face of heavy artillery and machine-gun fire. In the face of direct fire from enemy machine guns upon his platoon, disregarding his own personal safety, he went forward to reconnoiter and find cover for his men from which to continue the attack. In the performance of his courageous enterprise he was killed by machine-gun fire. Emergency address: Mrs. Julia Hayes, mother, 9214 Empire Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. Residence at appointment: 9214 Empire Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

Source: Congressional Medal of Honor, the Distinguished Service Cross, and the Distinguished Service Medal. Issued by the War Department, November 11, 1919.

Word that the captain had fallen wounded in no-man's-land spread quickly through F Company. Lieutenant Michael J. Hayes, second in command, immediately asked for volunteers to accompany him on a rescue mission. Everyone seemed willing to go. Selecting a party of four, Hayes crawled forward with his patrol across no-man's-land, under constant observation and fire, in search of the captain. Stumbling upon a machine-gun emplacement, they attacked and destroyed it with grenades. Unable to find the captain, however, the five concluded that he had been captured, and began their own hazardous withdrawal. All returned to tell their story, although one of the men had sustained serious wounds.

Patterson, meanwhile, maintained a patient, deathlike quiet on the spot where he had fallen. The journalist Forrest Davis later reconstructed his plight:

The August sun rose steadily, burning into his back. Every insect known to the French countryside advanced to the attack, reminding their victim of Gulliver's treatment at the hands of the Lilliputians. Unwilling to move a muscle, Patterson thought longingly of the filled water canteen by his side. A man of weaker nervous organization would have risen, screaming, and dashed to his death. Not Patterson. He remained prone and motionless until ten p.m., when darkness justified a sprint through the murk. . . . He was unwounded, he had dispatched two, probably three, of the enemy, and he reckoned that his luck would hold. It did.*¹⁸

On October 10, just one month before the Armistice, the regiment broke out of the Argonne into the valley of the Aire near the little town of St. Juvin. By early morning of the 14th, preparations had been made to assault the river and attack the town. In the ensuing struggle, Patterson suffered the most painful shock of his war: he lost his best friend, Mike Hayes, the lieutenant who had risked death to save him on the Vesle, felled by a bullet through the head.

In the memories of the 306th, Mike Hayes was the beau idéal—in Patterson's words, "the highest type of soldier, gentleman, and American."²⁰ A one-time football player at Colgate and a handsome figure of a man, he combined all the virtues of war and peace. In battle he was fearless and aggressive, his courage being of "the bold, impetuous kind that, once in, risked all." Yet he was sane and prudent in the ordinary rounds of life, always considerate of others, modest and winsome. "Forever foremost at the point of danger," Patterson wrote of him, "cheerful through the direst hardships, passionately devoted to the cause for which he was fighting, sparing of everyone but himself. . . . There was not a flaw in him."²¹ His death marked the one occasion during the war, Patterson recalled, when no one in F Company made a secret of his sorrow.

FELL SLAIN AFTER VALOR WON HONOR

Cleveland Lieutenant, Who Was Star in Athletics, Died in Action.

Lieut. Michael J. Hayes, one of Cleveland's heroes in the great war, is dead. Word that he had died in action Oct. 14, reached his mother, Mrs. John Hayes, 9214 Empire avenue N. E., yesterday.

Recently Lieut. Hayes won this citation in army orders:

First Lieutenant Michael J. Hayes, 368th Infantry, while accompanying his company commander on the night of Aug. 11-12, 1918, during a raid, assisted very materially his company commander during a heavy shelling of high explosives by indicating to individual men where each could best seek shelter, to the utter disregard of his own personal safety.

On Aug. 14, 1918, with great courage and coolness, he led a patrol of three men and himself to the rescue of his company commander, who was lying approximately twenty yards in front of a German machine gun post of greatly superior numbers, and with great courage and dash attacked this machine gun post, inflicting several casualties with hand grenades and rifle fire, and single enemy the from machine guns and himself managed to return with his patrol unharmed.

Lieut. Hayes had seen almost continuous service on the firing line since June 1, but wrote his mother the day before he was killed that he expected to be relieved next day. Two brothers, Grover and John, also are in France.

Lieut. Hayes was graduated in 1914 from Central High school, where he was a member of the football team and captain of the track and hockey teams. At Colgate university he was a member of the championship football team, a member of the track team and captain of the hockey team. He won a commission at the first officers' training school at Plattsburg and was prominent in athletics at Camp Upton, Long Island.

FIVE COLGATE MEN KILLED IN ACTION

Give Their Lives During Final Month of Fighting

During the past week five Colgate University men have been reported killed in action. The names were announced in chapel, and brought sorrow to the friends of the young men. Several of them were well known in the village, where they were held in the highest regard. Those who gave their lives in the closing weeks of the great struggle overseas were:

Capt. Harold L. Naughton of the 309th Infantry, who died of wounds received in action. He was graduated with the Class of 1913, and was a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

Capt. Robert Wood Markwick of the Infantry, who met his death in action on the 21st of October. While in College he was on the Varsity track team, and belonged to the Musical Clubs. His Class was 1915 and his fraternity Beta Theta Pi.

Lieut. Russell R. Hall, Aviation. Died of wounds received in action on September 16th. He was in the Class of 1918, and a member of Delta Upsilon.

Lieut. Michael J. Hayes, of the Class of 1918, died of wounds received in action on October 14th. He belonged to Delta Upsilon, and was more than ordinarily popular, both with his fellow students and the people of Hamilton.

First Sergeant Arthur F. Moran, of the Class of 1917, killed in action. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

REVIEW OF 1916 VARSITY TRACK SEASON

Wesleyan, Syracuse, Intercollegiate and Penn Relays

The 1916 Varsity track season ended May 27th with a run-away victory in the State Intercollegiate meet. The season was featured by the creation of five runners out of absolutely raw material, rather than by any remarkable individual work or team success.

That the team has attained the creditable measure of success that it has, has been due almost more than anything else to the untiring efforts and the loyal work of Coach John Rourke. He began the season this year with a nucleus of only two or three old men around whom to build up his whole team. During the season he has succeeded in bringing to light valuable new material and has developed by his own work a great deal more. At the end of the season he had a well rounded, well balanced team, not merely a group of individual stars. On the foundation that the coach laid this season, the college may reasonably expect next year a strong team.

The team this year deserves all possible credit. They have put in unusually hard work. Work in preparation for this spring began early last fall with the cross country work. All during the winter the men worked regularly every day in the gym. As soon as they were able to get out-doors the cinder track was in use every day. During the Easter vacation practically the whole squad stayed for drill.

Penn Relays

This year marked the entrance of Colgate for the first time, for nearly a decade, in the Penn relays. While Colgate's mark at that meet was not all that had been hoped for, yet the team which goes to Philadelphia next year will have the advantage of this year's experience. Colgate took fifth place in her own class.

Wesleyan Meet at Middletown

In the first meet of the year they tied the strong Wesleyan team on its own track. The Middletown college is recognized as having one of the strongest track teams in the New England States. This year they had a team composed very largely of veterans and were reputed to be especially fast. The result of the meet, 67 1-2 to 67- 1-2, showed for the first time the true calibre of the Maroon team. Colgate gained eight out of fifteen of the first places in the meet. The men brought back twenty of the silver trophy cups that were awarded for places. Colgate's greatest strength was in the field events where she clearly outpointed her rival. Wesleyan was strong in the middle distances and distance runs. Peck, Anderhundred in ten flat. At Syracuse this year he won the event in this time. He has won both dashes in every meet that he has been in this season, with the exception of the dual meet with Syracuse, where he was tied for first in the twenty.

D. M. Copley, '18

Copley will have to fill the place in the high jump next year which will be vacated by the graduation of Peck. He has shown ability in this event and has placed regularly.

M. J. Hayes, '18

This will be Hayes' first year as a letter man. He has had some difficulty in finding his best distance, as he runs the quarter, the half and the mile with about equal facility. His best performance during the year was in the N. Y. S. I. A. U. meet when he won the mile in good time and then by an unusually pretty sprint also broke the tape in the half.

W. T. Stedman, '18

Stedman shows great possibilities in both the two-twenty and the quarter mile. He has won points for the team in all the meets; but he does not seem to have taken full advantage of his own possibilities.

H. C. Gillo, '19

Gillo shares with Peck the honor of being the greatest point winner of the season. He also brought in for the team a total of forty-four points. He throws the weights well and also has placed regularly in the broad jump. It is intimated that he may be selected to represent Colgate in the Pentathlon at the Penn relays next year.

PENN RELAY RACES HELD IN PHILADELPHIA TODAY

Maroon Represented by Anderson,
Harvey, Doyle and Hayes. Team
Practices During Recess

The varsity relay team, which competes this season in the Penn Relays for the first time in nearly a decade, left Thursday evening for Philadelphia via New York.

The following men are making the trip: O. C. Anderson, '18, (Capt.); B. T. Harvey, '16; W. R. Doyle, '17; M. J. Hayes, '18; Manager M. M. Andrews, '17; and Coach John Rourke. The men arrived late Friday morning in good condition. Yesterday afternoon the team was given a short work-out, and this morning, Coach Rourke took the men for a walk. Colgate has not participated in the Penn Relays since 1907.

Prospects are bright for the team. All the men remained in Hamilton during the Easter recess, for training, and are in the pink of condition. In practice, the team has almost equalled the time made in previous years in its own class, and should make a strong showing.

The men will run in this order: Harvey, Hayes, Doyle, Anderson. Colgate has been given seventh place in the starts, being preceded by Worcester Tech., Lehigh, Lafayette, Rutgers, Dickinson, and George Washington University.

The team will return tomorrow noon on the 12:06.

VARSIITY RUNNERS WIN MILE RELAY AT PENN CARNIVAL

Maroon Men Gain Steadily on Opponents in Race

MARGIN OF 9 YARDS

Carnegie Tech Captures Second Place From Ohio Wesleyan After Close Struggle

The alumni and undergraduates of Colgate who journeyed to Philadelphia last Saturday to witness the annual Relay Carnival held under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania and the crowd of twenty thousand that packed Franklin Field on that day saw the Colgate relay team win the college relay race in which it was entered, running in a classification known as "second". Lined up with the Maroon at the start of the race were eight colleges, their order from the pole being as follows: Carnegie Tech, Ohio-Wesleyan, Colgate, Virginia Military Institute, Lehigh, College of the City of New York and Lafayette.

The Race

Anderson was the first runner for the Maroon. A quick starter, a man capable of ten seconds for the hundred, it was thought that he would make a bid for the lead at the start. But at the crack of the gun Anderson was content to allow the other runners to set the pace. Around the first curve he lagged in fourth place. Down the straightaway he moved up into third, crept slowly up on the leaders and passed them with a burst of speed on the home stretch, giving Hayes, second runner for Colgate, a lead of about six yards. Hayes, running with even pace smoothly and steadily, was able to keep this lead for Motley, third runner for the varsity. The colored sprinter made the most of the lead. With clock-like strides, he led the field, maintaining the six yard Maroon advantage over three quarters of his run. Then on the home stretch he lengthened out and added two yards more to Colgate's lead, thus giving Doyle, anchor man, a safe lead. Doyle ran his usual heady race and incidently gained a few yards as the finishing touch to a well merited Colgate victory. Carnegie Tech and Ohio-Wesleyan fought during the entire race for second place. The former finished in that position while the Ohio boys had to be content with third place. The time for the race was 3 minutes, 33 and 2-5 seconds. The individual prizes for the winners were gold watches engraved with the names of all the competing colleges. A large red and blue banner suitably inscribed also went to the winning team.

Chief Events of the Carnival

The University of Pennsylvania and Chicago University won the feature events of the Carnival. The Eastern college twice snatched victory from western institutions right at the tape, winning the 2-mile relay championship of America by a scant yard from Notre Dame and taking the one mile relay title from the University of Missouri. The University of Chicago had little trouble in capturing the 4-mile relay national championship, although Massachusetts Institute of Technology several times during the race threatened the Western team.

Joie Ray Wins Rodman Wanamaker Special Race in Madison Square Garden

All the Atmosphere of Military Cantonment Surrounds Annual Games of Millrose A.C.

Madison Square Garden had all the atmosphere of a military cantonment last night at the annual games of the Millrose A.C., the organization that John Wanamaker long ago perfected to make perfect men out of his employes. Everywhere there was a mingling of the khaki of the land warriors and the blue of the seafarers.

No such sight from a military standpoint has been seen in this city. At other affairs there have been little sprinklings of the soldiery, but here there was a whole cloudburst of the boys that are going "over there." There were all sorts of officers watching the boys go through their paces and they must have been convinced that they were a fit lot.

Mayor Hylan was among those present. With him were his wife and daughter. In addition to the Mayor and family there were some six thousand other enthusiasts, which filled the arena to capacity. It was a compliment to the idea that sport in war times is just as much thought of as in times of peace, for there seldom have been crowds as big at any athletic meet in many years as watched the soldiers and civilians show their athletic prowess.

Remarkably Good Performances.

Practically all the events were filled with contestants affiliated with some branch of the service, and many of the experts were surprised by the remarkably good performances of the one-time club athletes now in the training camps, as it had been figured that a lot of the finer edges would be taken off by the arduous military duties.

Elmer Smith, now at Fort Stocum, and Twenty-first company, Fort Stocum; second, George S. Kille, U.S.A.A.S., Allentown, Pa.; third, Howard Uhl, Brooklyn Navy Yard. Time, 35:1-5s.

Three Mile Run.—Won by J. Nightingale, unattached; second, N. P. Siegel, Meadowbrook Club; third, N. Giannakopoulos, Millrose A.A. Time, 15m. 50s.

One and Seven-Eighth Miles Medley Relay Race.—C.A.P. Meconidian, Championship.—Won by Millrose A.A.; second, Paulist A.C.; third, Boys' Club.

Flag of War.—Fort Hancock first team defeated Fort Hancock second team in 1m. 27s.

Wall Scaling.—Fort Hamilton, 2m. 11:4-5s.; Fort Hancock, 2m. 22:4-5s.

Seventy Yards High Hurdles.—Won by Arthur Engles, O. R. T. C., Camp Upton; second E. F.

tenant R. Crawford, 307th field artillery, Camp Dix. Time, 9:3-5s.

One and a Half Mile Run (Rodman Wanamaker Trophy).—Won by J. W. Ray, Illinois A.C.; second, George L. Gills, University of Chicago; third, Clyde J. Stout, Chicago; fourth, John W. Ryan, Boston A.A. Time, 9m. 22:2-5s.

One Mile Inter-Camp Relay.—Won by Camp Dix; second, First Naval District; third, U.S. A.A.S., Allentown, Pa. Time, 3m. 41:2-5s.

Seventy Yards Low Hurdles.—Won by M. Root, U. S. A. A. S., Allentown, Pa.; second, Arthur Engles, O. R. T. C., Camp Upton; third, Lieutenant R. Crawford, Camp Dix. Time, 9 seconds.

Half Mile Run, with Full Equipment.—Won by Lieutenant M. J. Hayes, Camp Upton; second, C. M. Finch, 311th infantry, Camp Dix; third, S. D. Richmond, Eighty-seventh regiment, Fort Wad-

There was one officer who showed his men how to run. He was Lieutenant M. J. Hayes, of Camp Upton. He finished first in probably the toughest race of the night, the half mile run in full army equipment. He is an old Colgate College athlete and lived up to the reputation he made under his alma mater.

HOWARD BERRY CAPTURES RELAY RACE FOR CAMP DIX

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Jole Ray, Illinois A. C. distance marvel, retained his one-and-one-half-mile title by winning the Rodman Wanamaker cup, in the Millrose games last night.

Ray was cheered on by 10,000 persons, who packed every nook and corner of the famous Madison Square Garden.

It was the second straight year that the western wizard won the Wanamaker trophy. He was timed in 6 minutes 57 4-5 seconds, which was 11 seconds slower than last year.

Ray had no one to challenge him. George Otis and Clyde J. Stout, of the University of Chicago, being unable to keep pace with the speed king after the third lap. Otis nosed out his college mate by a foot at the tape, and John Ryan, of the Boston A. A. was fourth.

J. Howard Berry, Penn's great all-around athlete, was showered with plaudits when he won the one-mile inter-camp relay championship for Camp Dix.

Berry ran anchor man and showed the way to Tom Halpin, the Boston A. A. star, who represented First Naval District of Boston. Berry won by 4 yards in 3 minutes 31 2-5 seconds. W. and O. C. Anderson and W. Kelly helped Berry carry the trophy back to Wrightstown, N. J.

Nick Giannakopolus, 106th Infantry Medical Camp, Wadsworth, won the half-mile full equipment race. He easily sprinted away from J. Sankout, of Company E, Camp Wadsworth. Nick, who has often run in Philadelphia distance races, did the race in 2 minutes 20 3-5 seconds.

One of the novel military races was the half-mile full equipment event for the army only. It was won by Lieutenant Michael J. Hayes, of Camp Upton. He gained track fame at Colgate.

C. M. Finch, of the 311th Infantry, Camp Dix, was second, and S. D. Richmond, of the Eighth Regiment, Fort Wadsworth, was third. Hayes was timed in 2:24 1-5, which is excellent time considering that he was weighted down with complete military togs and a gun.

M. J. HAYES, '18 AND O. C. ANDERSON, '18 WIN ATHLETIC HONORS

COMPETE AT NEW YORK CITY

Anderson Wins in One Mile Relay,
While Hayes Easily Captures Half-mile Run.

Michael J. Hayes, '18, and Oscar C. Anderson, '18, representing Camp Upton and Camp Dix respectively, successfully competed for honors at the Annual Meet of the Melrose A. A. at Madison Square Garden last Wednesday evening. Oscar Anderson, W. Anderson, W. F. Kelley and Howard J. Berry, a former Pennsylvania athlete, ran for Camp Dix in the one-mile relay open to contestants in the Army and Navy, and easily won from the teams representing the camps and naval stations. Their time for the mile was 3:41 2-5.

Michael J. Hayes of the 306th Infantry Camp Upton, easily won the half mile run with full military equipment, against a large number of contestants. The Sun in speaking of the race said: "The open event for the army and navy fell to a fine specimen of a soldier, who handled himself and his rifle as though it were a toy. He was M. J. Hayes, a Colgate man now at Camp Upton."

The Army and Navy relay races scheduled as separate events were merged, with the result that it provided one of the most thrilling finishes of the evening. Strong teams of college and club cracks had been gathered from the different camps, with the men from the First Naval Station of Boston favorites. The race appeared to be over when the famous Tom Halpin took up the last relay for the Boston tars only two yards behind Howard Berry. The all-round athlete of Pennsylvania, Berry, however was game to the finish and strive as he would, Halpin could not cut down the lead until the stretch. He drew up then, but Berry showed his fighting spirit by dashing to the tape and placing victory to the credit of Camp Dix by two yards. There was a crowd that taxed the capacity of the Garden to see the meet, held for the first time under war conditions. The spectators showed a fine appreciation of the many great athletes now wearing khaki and there was more enthusiasm shown when Camp Dix won the Relay than for any other event.

FOOTBALL MEN GO EAST TO PREPARE FOR BROWN GAME

Leave Tomorrow for Practice At Mansfield, Mass.

PRACTICE FORENOONS

Twenty-four Players Taken for Last Game of Season, at Providence
On Thursday Morning

Final practice in Hamilton was held by the Maroon football squad this morning, prior to its departure tomorrow for Mansfield, Mass., where preparations will be completed for the invasion of Providence on Thanksgiving Day, in a supreme effort to complete the season with a victory over the undefeated Brown eleven.

Yesterday afternoon, the players were again compelled to battle the forces of nature opposing in the form of a combination snow, hail, and rain storm. The bad weather of the past two weeks has accustomed the players to a soggy gridiron and they will be well groomed if such conditions exist on Thanksgiving Day.

Twenty-four players will leave for Mansfield, Mass., tomorrow on the 3:19 train, where the Colgate contingent will make its headquarters until Thursday. Each morning, practice and scrimmage will be held, instead of the afternoon, as heretofore. Owing to the fact that the Brown game must be played on Thanksgiving morning, it was deemed advisable to accustom the Maroon team to forenoon playing.

The Brown squad has had light practice lately, with no scrimmage. Coach Robertson expects a hard game with Colgate but has little to say prophetically.

Coach Bankart left Hamilton yesterday and will meet the squad at Mansfield, Doctor E. C. Huntington; F. M. Jones, Graduate Manager; E. C. Huntington, Jr., Assistant Coach; John Rourke, Trainer; R. J. Mansfield, Manager; and W. A. Reid, Assistant Manager, will accompany the following men on the trip:

Horning, Captain; Good, Nielsen, West, Barton, Carroll, Hubbell, Anderson, Castellanos, Spencer, Gillo, Watkins, Bek, Laird, Crovat, Frye, Harris, Hayes, Woodman, Martin, Scott, Grotemat, Wooster, and Brewer.

FORMER COLLEGE STARS ON CAMP UPTON ELEVEN

Ithaca Daily News - November 22, 1917

Many Well Known Men to Play Against Percy Haughton's Service Team From Camp Devens at the Polo Grounds Saturday.

New York, Nov. 22.—Camp Upton's football eleven, which will clash with Percy Haughton's service team from Camp Devens at the Polo Grounds, Saturday, is going through the training process each afternoon on the gridiron laid out at Yaphank.

Frank Glick, the former Princeton player, put his charges through a long and strenuous scrimmage yesterday afternoon, and from his attitude he was evidently quite satisfied with the way his boys went about their work.

A surprisingly large number of former college luminaries will represent the Camp Upton team in this game. Those who practised at Yaphank yesterday were:

Capt. Crawford Blagden, the one-time famous Harvard tackle; Capt. Harry Kempner, also of Harvard; Lieut. M. J. Hayes of last year's famous Colgate eleven; Lieutenant Darrin, the only white man who ever played with the Carlisle Indian team; Lieut. Phil Sheridan (grandson of the famous General Sheridan), who graduated from Notre Dame; Lieutenant Woodring of Vanderbilt; Lieutenant Colbach of Bowdoin; Lieutenant Roth of Cornell and Lieutenant Parker of Penn.

Among the privates practising with the team are: Hershman, one-time member of the Rutgers team; Roscoe, an interscholastic player of this city; Meyers, an up-state boy who throws a forward pass like a baseball, and Starcy, who played center to Walter Eckersall.

Assisting Glick in coaching are Captain Blagden and Capt. Bob Storer, both of Harvard, and Dug Boesler of Yale, a Brooklyn boy.

A delegation of troops will accompany the Upton team and parade through the streets to the Polo Grounds. Before the game they will give an exhibition drill. The proceeds will go to the divisional athletic fund, which is used to supply the thirteen divisional teams with football equipment.

Officials for the Newport Naval Reserves-Rutgers game at Ebbets Field on Saturday were announced yesterday. George Beaver, jr., of West Point will act as referee, and Edward B. Cochems of the University of Wisconsin will appear in the capacity of umpire. The head linesman will be E. T. Madden of Yale.

The Newport team will arrive here Friday morning, and in the afternoon will practise at Ebbets Field. The sailors will make their headquarters at the Crescent A. C. They will remain here until Sunday.

The football game scheduled between Rutgers and Lehigh for the Polo Grounds on Thanksgiving afternoon has been called off. Rutgers is trying to arrange a game with some other college team for that date.

Upton Players Injured.
Lieutenant Paul Roth, of the Upton team, started the game at quarter back, was hurt making a tackle in the second quarter. He was kicked in the head and ejected from the field. Army officers attended him in the dressing room and after the game he was taken to the Harvard Hospital suffering from shock and laceration about the eye. His home is in Brooklyn. He is a former Cornell player. Captain Blagden, of the Upton team, played tackle and did fine work for a while who was in his college heyday in football. He also suffered an injury to his leg, however, and the breaking through of him by his companion on the left wing, Hayes, formerly of Colgate, smeared many a Devens player behind the line.

Colgate Loses to Yale In Hockey at New Haven

Maroon Completely Outplayed. Hayes and Atwood Star for Colgate.

The Varsity Hockey team was defeated on Thursday by the Yale team at New Haven. The Blue team had the advantage throughout the game, and the Maroon was able to score only in the second half against a team of second string men. The final score was 7 to 3. Yale had thirty shots for goals and was hindered from further scoring by the excellent work of the Colgate defense. The work of Capt. Hayes, Wilson and Atwood was the strong point in the playing of the Maroon team. Capt. Hayes secured all of the scores for his team, while Atwood had twenty-three stops to his credit. Time and again did the speedy Yale forwards bring the puck within striking distance, only to have the play broken up by the fast defensive work of Wilson and Crane or the excellent guarding of Atwood.

Armour played exceptionally well for the Elis. The Yale team made many substitutions in the second half of the contest. The line-up is as follows:

Yale, 7		Colgate, 3
York	G.	Atwood
Murray	P.	Crane
Bierwirth	C. P.	Wilson
Armour	R.	Watkins
MacIlwaine	C.	Hayes
Laughlin	L. F.	Wasson
Stanley	R. F.	Anderson

ARMY HOCKEY TEAM LOSES TO COLGATE AT WEST POINT

Varsity Proves Strength in First Game of Season

House Stars for Army, Watkins, Hayes, and Atwood for Maroon. Play
Yale Tonight.

Colgate won the first hockey game on the schedule yesterday by defeating the Army with a score of five goals to two. The Maroon team played an aggressive game and throughout the contest seemed to be the stronger team. The features of the game were the fine goal-tending by Atwood and the excellent work of Watkins in the rover position. Watkins secured two of the five goals while Capt. Hayes and Anderson each shot a goal. The fifth tally for Colgate was made by the accidental shot of an Army player.

House of the Army was the strong factor on his team and his work throughout the game was exceptional. Colgate came back strong in the second half and played even more consistently than in the opening period. There were no accidents during the game and the team is in good condition to meet Yale tonight.

Play Yale Tonight

The team left West Point yesterday after the game and spent last evening in New York. They left for New Haven this morning and will play Yale this evening in the New Haven Skating Arena.

The lineup of the Army game was as follows:

Colgate		Army
Hayes, Capt.	C.	Sarcka
Anderson	R. W.	House
Wasson	L. W.	Durfee
Watkins	R.	Redfield
Meurlin	P.	Oliphant
Wilson	C. P.	Armstrong
Atwood	G.	Nichols

Crescent Club Is to Play Camp Upton Hockey Seven

Ever since the ending of the football season the athletic directors at the various camps have been looking for another sport to interest the soldiers of the National Army. The recent cold spell has enabled several of the camps to take up hockey. One of the first to organize a seven is Camp Upton at Yaphank, L. I. Under the management of Lieutenant M. J. Hayes, Company F, 366th Infantry, the Upton boys have formed a team that should be able to hold its own with any of the clubs of the Amateur Hockey League.

Lieutenant Hayes is exceedingly anxious to arrange games with the various college sevens. "We have a fair representative team at Upton," said Lieutenant Hayes yesterday. "All of the men have had either high school or college hockey experience. We have made arrangements to practice once a week at the Brooklyn Ice Palace, and the practice, together with the work we can get at Upton, should put us in excellent shape for hard games. Our first game will be against the Crescent Athletic Club next Saturday evening at the Brooklyn Ice Palace."

The contest between Camp Upton and the Crescent Athletic Club will be the first game of senior hockey played this winter in Brooklyn. For more than a month the New Mooners have been at work rounding together a team that compares favorably with the championship aggregations of former years. In the New Moon lineup will be seen several veterans, including Billy Dobby, Jimmie Shirreff, Sara Kennedy, Fred Jang, Cub Shiebler and possibly Hob Wall. As the game will be played under rules that will permit substitution and re-substitution of players, the veterans should be able to play fast hockey throughout.

An exceptionally important game in the race for the hockey championship of the P. S. A. L. is scheduled to be played on Friday evening at the Brooklyn Ice Palace. It will bring together Flushing High School, which recently defeated West Point, and Erasmus Hall High School, the present leader in the championship series. The teams are considered the best in the league and the winner probably will in the end annex the title. Manual meets Jamaica in the other game of the doubleheader next Friday evening.

Play for Class A Title Will Be Held at Detroit

The national Class A 15.2 balking billiard championship tournament will be held at Detroit, Mich., beginning February 25 in the Recreation Building there. The executive committee of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players announces that the competitors will be the guests of the Detroit Athletic Club. Lieutenant Nathan Hall of the Boston Athletic Association, winner of the championship last year, is now with the United Army in France.

CAMP UPTON HOCKEY SEVEN READY FOR THE CRESCENT CLUB

Brooklyn Daily Eagle - January 17, 1918

Top Row (Left to Right)—Lieutenant M. J. Hayes, H. Wisettler, A. Shaw, J. Roache, T. Campbell, A. MacLean, L. R. Miller. Middle Row (Left to Right)—A. Schroeter, S. Sheehan and R. E. Miller. Bottom Row (Left to Right)—S. H. Ottenberg, R. Stephens.

CAMP UPTON believes that it has the strongest hockey team in the service of Uncle Sam. The soldier boys from Vauxhall have been practicing at the Brooklyn Ice Palace and have uncovered an excellent brand of hockey. It is to be expected, as every one has had other school or college experience chasing the little black rubber puck. Lieutenant M. J. Hayes, a former Colgate star, has been coaching the soldiers and they are in great shape for their initial game against the Crescent Athletic Club next Saturday night at the Brooklyn Ice Palace. The contest also is the first game of the season for the New Moon aggregation.

ARMY-NAVY HOCKEY MATCH.

The Camp Upton hockey seven will meet the team of the Newport Naval Reserves at the St. Nicholas Ice Rink to-night. This will be the first army-navy hockey match played in this city. The Newport team defeated Boston College on Wednesday night in Boston, 5 to 2. Tom Howard, Jr., and his brother Jack were the stars of the sailor victory.

Camp Upton's star players are Lieutenant M. J. Hayes, formerly of Colgate, and Halleck and Peabody, who played in the Amateur Hockey League for a number of seasons. Men in uniform will be given tickets at half the regular box office prices.
